

1114-position distribution box cover

AI Overview

The 1114-position distribution box cover refers to a protective enclosure cover for electrical distribution boxes, such as the ILME TM1114DB or similar junction boxes, designed to house and protect electrical components. Overview A 1114-position distribution box cover is typically used to protect and enclose electrical components like switches, circuit breakers, fuseholders, connectors, terminals, and other devices while allowing organized distribution of electrical power from primary sources such as generators or batteries. These covers are often part of junction boxes or distribution enclosures and may be fixed or hinged depending on the model. Common Models and Specifications ILME TM1114DB: A fixed-cover distribution box from the TM series, designed for industrial applications. Dimensions are 115 x 144 x 94.5 mm, made of aluminum, and rated for IP66/67/69 protection, making it suitable for harsh environments. Military/Standard Distribution Boxes (6110-01-602-1114): These enclosures include mounts and covers to protect electrical components and distribute power efficiently. They may include doors or covers and are designed for rugged use. Plastic/Metal 8-Position Boxes: Smaller, waterproof boxes are available for fewer positions, typically made of durable plastic and metal, suitable for light-duty or outdoor applications. Features Material: Aluminum or durable plastic for industrial or waterproof applications. Protection: IP-rated for dust and water resistance. Mounting: Can be bulkhead-mounted or panel-mounted depending on the design. Compatibility: Designed to accommodate standard electrical components like TM series plates, switches, and terminals. Purchasing Options ILME TM1114DB: Available from distributors like Kempston Controls and Luckins Live, with international shipping options. BMW Steuerkettenkasten 1114: Automotive chain box covers with the 1114 designation are available on eBay for specific vehicle applications. General-purpose boxes: Amazon and other suppliers offer waterproof or clear plastic distribution box...
