

Jing an Optical Cable Sales Price List

AI Overview

Optical cable prices in Jing'an vary by type, specifications, and supplier, with factory-direct and OEM options offering the most competitive rates. Pricing Overview Optical cable prices depend on cable type (e.g., ADSS, Outdoor, Indoor, FTTH), fiber count, and armoring or jacket specifications. Factory-direct suppliers in China, such as Sopto and ZTO Cable, offer competitive pricing due to direct sales and bulk order discounts. Wholesale platforms like Made-in-China allow buyers to request quotes from multiple OEM manufacturers, which can reduce costs for large-scale projects. Typical factors affecting pricing include:

- Cable type and application: Outdoor and armored cables are generally more expensive than indoor or FTTH cables.
- Fiber count and quality: Higher fiber counts and premium optical fibers increase cost.
- Customization: OEM/ODM orders with specific lengths, jackets, or performance requirements may affect the price.
- Market trends: Global fiber optic material costs and regional demand influence pricing.

How to Obtain Accurate Prices

Contact Suppliers Directly: For precise pricing, email suppliers like Sopto (info@sopto.com.cn) or reach out to ZTO Cable for factory-direct quotes.

Request Wholesale Quotes: Platforms like Made-in-China allow you to submit inquiries to multiple manufacturers, enabling price comparison and negotiation.

Specify Requirements: Provide details such as cable type, fiber count, length, and environmental specifications to get accurate quotes.

Consider Bulk Orders: Ordering in larger quantities often reduces the per-meter cost.
