

Kyrgyzstan Active Optical Cable Manufacturer

AI Overview

Kyrgyzstan's optical cable market is primarily served by OJSC Kyrgyztelecom and regional suppliers, with local production supplemented by imports from neighboring countries. Key Manufacturers and Suppliers OJSC Kyrgyztelecom is the main player in Kyrgyzstan's optical cable sector, actively involved in both procurement and distribution of fiber optic cables for national telecommunications infrastructure. They recently signed a contract with Global Optical Communication Uzbekistan LLC for the supply of 110,000 meters of fiber optic cable, including 70,000 meters of modular stranding reinforced with glass strands, highlighting their role in sourcing and deploying optical cables in the country. Other suppliers include regional and international companies exporting to Kyrgyzstan, such as Kabeltech, which provides optical-fiber cables for overhead power lines and telecommunications, serving markets across Central Asia including Kyrgyzstan. Market Overview The optical fiber cable market in Kyrgyzstan is growing steadily, driven by the expansion of telecommunications networks and modernization projects. Reports indicate that the market is structured around a mix of local assembly, imports, and joint ventures, with competitive dynamics influenced by demand for high-quality fiber optic solutions. Technical Specifications Kyrgyzstan manufacturers produce a range of optical fiber cables, typically composed of one or more transparent optical fibers enclosed in protective coverings and strength members. Specifications include simplex, duplex, and multi-core configurations, with reinforcement options such as glass strands for durability. These cables are designed for industrial and telecommunications applications, ensuring stable performance and compliance with international standards. Summary While Kyrgyzstan has limited domestic manufacturing capacity...
