AI Overview

Fire-resistant cable trays in the DRC typically cost between $20 and $60 per meter, including installation, depending on material and specifications. Price Overview The cost of cable trays in the Democratic Republic of Congo varies based on material, type, and installation requirements. For steel cable trays, which are commonly used for fire-resistant applications, the total installation cost ranges from $20 to $60 per meter, covering both the tray itself and labor expenses. Standard steel trays without special coatings may cost $10–$30 per meter, while aluminum or coated variants, which offer higher corrosion and fire resistance, can range from $20–$50 per meter. Custom or powder-coated trays designed for fire resistance may be at the higher end of this range.

Factors Affecting Cost

Material: Galvanized steel is cost-effective and moderately fire-resistant, stainless steel offers higher durability and fire resistance, and aluminum is lightweight and corrosion-resistant but more expensive.

Coatings and Fire Resistance: Fire-resistant coatings or specialized steel alloys increase the price. Powder-coated or pre-galvanized trays provide additional protection but add to the cost.

Installation: Skilled labor, equipment, and local logistics in the DRC contribute significantly to the total cost.
