

Price of grounding for metal distribution boxes

Overview

Grounding rod installation costs $200 to $500 on average, and your total rises with added grounding wiring. Local code requirements and site access affect labor time, digging difficulty, and where your grounding rod can go. What buyers typically pay to ground an electrical panel ranges from a low to high spread depending on site conditions, materials, and labor. Your final total depends on how many outlets you ground and whether your home needs new ground wires. You should account for the cost of panel rewiring or fuse box replacement, which runs $500 to $4,500. One of the most fundamental safety. Enclosure grounding is a critical safety practice used to protect personnel and equipment by providing a controlled path for fault currents and electrical surges.
