

Saudi Arabian Fiber Optic Cable Distribution Box Factory

AI Overview

Saudi Arabia hosts several leading fiber optic cable manufacturers and distribution box suppliers, including MEFC, Riyadh Cables, and Azra IT Systems, supporting FTTH, 5G, and industrial networks.

Key Manufacturers

Middle East Fiber Cable Manufacturing Co. (MEFC) is a Saudi-Japanese partnership based in Riyadh, established in 1995. MEFC specializes in fiber optic cable manufacturing and provides complete solutions for telecommunications, industrial, oil & gas, and transportation sectors across the MENA region. They focus on high-quality cables, advanced connectivity solutions, and R&D-driven innovation, making them a trusted supplier for critical infrastructure projects.

Riyadh Cables Group is the largest cable manufacturer in the Middle East, with extensive production capacity to support national backbone networks, including OPGW and hybrid cables for 5G base stations. They are certified by Saudi Telecom Company (STC) and Saudi Aramco, ensuring compliance with local standards and industrial requirements.

Other notable manufacturers include Jeddah Cables, Bright Wires, Systematic Energy Company (SECO), and Global Business Solutions Co. (GBS), which provide specialized fiber optic solutions, network design, and installation services for both commercial and industrial applications.

Distribution Box Suppliers

Azra IT Systems, located in Riyadh, is a major supplier of fiber optic distribution boxes. They offer a wide range of models, including 2-core up to 72-core boxes, suitable for FTTx networks. Their products integrate fiber splicing, splitting, distribution, storage, and cable connection in a single unit. Azra IT Systems works with well-known brands such as Corning, Commscope, Molex, and Panduit, and provides customized solutions for outdoor splitter/distribution boxes, FTTH boxes, and patch panels.
