

Tuvalu Low-Voltage Distribution Boxes

Affordable Prices

AI Overview

Low-voltage distribution boxes in Tuvalu typically range from approximately $1,500 to $5,000 USD per unit, depending on capacity, features, and supplier.

Overview Low-voltage distribution boxes are essential for safely distributing electrical power to multiple circuits in residential, commercial, and industrial settings. They house protective devices such as circuit breakers, fuses, and monitoring systems, and may include features like RCD/RCCB integration, multi-circuit support, and modular design for easy expansion or reconfiguration. In Tuvalu, these boxes are often used in conjunction with compact or prefabricated substations for low-voltage distribution.

Price Estimates While specific Tuvalu pricing is not publicly listed, international suppliers provide indicative costs:

- Small residential or basic low-voltage distribution boxes: Starting around $1,500–$2,000 USD per unit, suitable for single-phase or small multi-circuit setups.
- Medium-capacity or commercial units: Approximately $2,500–$3,500 USD, often including multiple circuits, enhanced safety features, and modular panels.
- High-capacity or industrial-grade units: $4,000–$5,000 USD or more, especially if integrated with smart metering, ACBs, SCADA systems, or hybrid-ready designs for solar or renewable energy applications.

Factors Affecting Price

- Transformer capacity and voltage rating: Higher-rated units cost more due to insulation and switchgear complexity.
- Enclosure quality and materials: Fiberglass reinforced concrete or steel enclosures with protective coatings increase durability and price.
- Additional features: Smart metering, remote monitoring, reactive power compensation, and automation can add 10–40% to the base cost.
- Shipping and import costs: Tuvalu's remote location may increase delivery costs, so local procurement or regional suppliers may be more economical.
