

Which company offers the best fiber optic cables for Vietnam

AI Overview

Viet Fiber, FPT Telecom, and LS-Vina are among the top providers of high-quality fiber optic cables in Vietnam, offering reliable products for telecom, FTTH, and data center applications.

Leading Companies

Viet Fiber is a Vietnamese manufacturer specializing in high-performance fiber optic and copper structured cabling solutions. Established in 2014, the company operates with full vertical integration, controlling the entire production process from raw materials to final assembly. This ensures superior quality, cost efficiency, and fast delivery. Viet Fiber also supplies international markets, including the USA and EU, and focuses heavily on research and development for emerging technologies, making it a strong choice for data center and telecom projects in Vietnam.

FPT Telecom is a prominent telecommunications and IT company offering fiber optic internet installation and private data transmission channels. They provide high-speed connectivity solutions for both individuals and businesses, with a focus on flexible IT infrastructure and robust network support. FPT Telecom is particularly strong in FTTH (Fiber To The Home) and local area network deployments, making it ideal for domestic telecom projects.

LS-Vina is a joint venture with LS Cable (Korea) and is one of Vietnam's oldest and most reputable cable manufacturers. They offer a full range of fiber optic and copper cables for telecom and industrial applications. LS-Vina's products are known for high tensile strength, low attenuation, and durability in Vietnam's tropical climate, making them suitable for large-scale broadband expansion projects.
